

I don't need...

1	...to keep my schedule I need to be ready to drop everything to keep God's unexpected appointments.
2	...to be in control I need to fully rely on God, because He really is in control.
3	...to be organized I need to find what is important to God and mold my life around that.
4	...to see the bigger picture I need daily bread. I need to trust that what I have at the beginning of the day will be enough for the whole day.
5	...to make sure my efforts always are worth it I need to give of my time, energy, and resources without expecting anything in return, trusting that God will use it and that will be more "worth it" than what I could do with it.
6	...to be treated fairly I need to follow God who loves justice, and who will put all things to right in the end.
7	...to be anxious for the future I need faith in God's plan knowing He will care for me as He does the lilies and the sparrows.
8	...to be wise in my own eyes I need wisdom from above in my use of money, in relationships, in time management, and that will not look like what the world values.
9	...to keep all the balls in the air I need to let some balls drop because God has called me to other things.
10	...money and possessions I need only what I can use for God's glory.
11	...friends and family I need Jesus, and I need to not make my life revolve around any person or group more than Him. That is idolatry. That is not loving them, but rather it is a complicated form of hate.
12	...stable circumstances I need to stand firmly on the Rock of Ages.

I don't need...

13	...to be understood I need to understand what God wants.
14	...to be happy I need to find joy in God alone.
15	...serenity I need peace from God that the world does not know about.
16	...more in my life Sometimes I need less. More isn't always better, sometimes more is just more.
17	...to increase and expand my horizons He must increase. I need to decrease.
18	...to be heard I need to listen.
19	...to figure it out I need to follow.
20	...to be comforted and soothed I need to see the harsh reality of my sin so that I can repent and be corrected.
21	...my leaders to see everything I see I need to submit to God-ordained authority and gain a glimpse of what they see.
22	...to be "enough" I need to be overflowing with what God fills me.
23	...to worry or be afraid I need to have faith and trust in what God is doing.
24	...to keep up a good facade I need to be changed from the inside toward the outside. I need to be filled with the Spirit who is sanctifying me, continuing a good work in me, so that my sanctification matches my justification and can't help but show on the outside.
25	...ANYTHING My life is the Lord's. He is all I need.
